It uses Apple's new mobile mail servers called APNS, and Wifi synchronization so your mail comes with your computer. In fact, you can also get feedback messages and reminders from your computer on your iPhone. I get so much mail on my iPhone and iPad that I created K9 Mail to help me manage it all. I want to see my mail quickly, and I want to be able to quickly compose, respond and archive messages. K9 Mail helps me do this. K9 Mail is compatible with Apple's MobileMe, iCloud, and Exchange servers. It's easy to switch between them to sync your mail and attachments from one to another. I have tried several of Apple's email programs and I always come back to K9 Mail. It's the only program that I've been happy with. It's the only one that I can actually use without using my computer. The program includes a customizable view of messages, multiple accounts support, labels, standard Apple Mail attachments, attachments using Google servers and a lot more. K9 Mail does sync your mail and attachments to your computer and make them available from any web browser. You can also view your messages, edit them, forward or even delete them. I'm not a college student - I just graduated from one. But, when I was in college and started writing my papers and other assignments, I found that Microsoft Word and Google Docs were horrible. The formatting, etc. - they were terrible. So, I started using Apple's Pages, and I was astounded by how well it worked and how much easier it was to do things, especially when they came to formatting my paper! When I became
